The Statutes and Regulations

IEEPA, the EAR, and the CCL

14. Under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (“IEEPA”), 50 U.S.C. §§ 1701-07, the President of the United States was granted authority to deal with unusual and extraordinary threats to the national security and foreign policy of the United States. Under IEEPA, the President may declare a national emergency through Executive Orders that have the full force and effect of law.

15. IEEPA also empowers the U.S. Department of Commerce (“DOC”) to issue regulations governing exports. Initially, the Export Administration Act (“EAA”), 50 App. U.S.C. §§ 2401-2420, regulated the export of goods, technology, and software from the United States. Pursuant to the provisions of the EAA, the DOC promulgated the Export Administration Regulations (“EAR”), 15 C.F.R. §§ 730-774, which contain additional restrictions on the export of goods outside of the United States, consistent with the policies and provisions of the EAA. See 15 C.F.R. § 730.02. Although the EAA lapsed on August 17, 2001, pursuant to the authority provided to the President under IEEPA, the President issued Executive Order 13222, which declared a national emergency with respect to the unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States in light of the expiration of the EAA. Accordingly, pursuant to IEEPA, the President ordered that the EAR's provisions remain in full force and effect despite the expiration of the EAA. Presidents have issued annual Executive Notices extending the national emergency declared in Executive Order 13222 from the time period covered by that Executive Order through the present. See, e.g., 80 Fed. Reg. 52587 (Aug. 8, 2016). Under IEEPA, it is a crime to willfully violate any regulation promulgated thereunder, including the EAR. See 50 U.S.C. § 1705.

16. Pursuant to its authority derived from IEEPA, the DOC reviewed and controlled the export of certain items, including goods, software, and technologies, from the United States to foreign countries through the EAR. In particular, the EAR restricted the export of items that could make a significant contribution to the military potential of other nations or that could be detrimental to the foreign policy or national security of the United States. The EAR imposed licensing and other requirements for items subject to the EAR to be lawfully exported from the United States or lawfully re-exported from one foreign destination to another. The most sensitive items subject to EAR controls were identified on the Commerce Control List, or "CCL," published at 15 C.F.R. Part 774, Supp. No. 1. Items on the CCL were categorized by Export Control Classification Number ("ECCN"), each of which has export controls requirements depending on destination, end use, and end user.

17. Under the EAR, the export of items subject to the EAR that will transit or be transshipped through a country or countries, en route to a new country, are deemed to be exports to the new country. 15 C.F.R. § 734.2(b)(6).

18. Pursuant to IEEPA Section 1705(a), “[i]t shall be unlawful for a person to violate, attempt to violate, conspire to violate, or cause a violation of any license, order, regulation, or prohibition issued under this chapter,” and pursuant to Section 1705(c), “[a] person who willfully commits, willfully attempts to commit, or willfully conspires to commit, or aids or abets in the commission of, an unlawful act described in subsection (a) of this section shall” be guilty of a crime.

United States Sanctions Against Syria

19. Pursuant to IEEPA, the President and the executive branch have issued orders and regulations governing and prohibiting certain transactions with Syria by U.S. persons or involving U.S.-origin goods.

20. The President signed the Syria Accountability and Lebanese Sovereignty Restoration Act of 2003 (Pub. L. 108-175, codified as a note to 22 U.S.C. § 2151) (“the SAA”) in December 2003. Section 5(a)(1) of the SAA requires the President to prohibit the export to Syria of all items on the CCL and to impose two or more of six additional sanctions, as set forth in Section 5(a)(2)(A)-(F) of the SAA.

21. On May 11, 2004, the President issued Executive Order 13338, declaring that “the actions of the Government of Syria, in supporting terrorism, continuing its occupation of Lebanon, pursuing weapons of mass destruction and missile programs, and undermining United States and international efforts with respect to the stabilization and reconstruction of Iraq, constitute an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States.” The Executive Order imposes U.S. sanctions against Syria, including a broad prohibition on the export and re-export to Syria of items subject to the EAR, and provides that “the Secretary of Commerce shall not permit the exportation or re-exportation to Syria of any product of the United States,” except for food and medicine, and that “[n]o other agency of the United States Government shall permit the exportation or re-exportation to Syria of any product of the United States.” The Executive Order also prohibits any “transaction by a United States person or within the United States that evades or avoids, has the purpose of evading or avoiding, or attempts to violate any of the prohibitions set forth” in the order. In accordance with Executive Order 13338, the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Industry and Security (DOC/BIS), implemented sanctions on Syria by issuing General Order No. 2 to Supplement No. 1 to Part 736 (“General Order No. 2”) and corresponding regulations (15 C.F.R. Part 746.9), restricting exports and re-exports to Syria of all items subject to the EAR other than food and certain medicine.

22. With certain limited exceptions not relevant here, U.S. Sanctions against Syria prohibit, among other things, the export, re-export, sale, or supply, directly or indirectly, of goods from the United States or by a United States person wherever located, to Syria or the Government of Syria without prior authorization from the Secretary of State or the Secretary of Commerce.

SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES’ Designation as a Specially Designated National

23. On May 16, 2013, pursuant to Executive Order 13224, the Department of the Treasury’s Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) listed SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES as a

Specially Designated National. As a Specially Designated National, SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES' assets are blocked and U.S. persons are generally prohibited from dealing with it. An OFAC license is required to export to Syria any items subject to the EAR, which necessarily includes all items on the CCL. 31 C.F.R. § 594.204.

24. OFAC listed SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES as a Specially Designated National due to its illegal actions on behalf of Iran's Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps (IRGC). The IRGC used SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES cargo flights to transport weapons and ammunition to Syria. Hizbollah, a Lebanese terrorist organization, helped facilitate these SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES shipments for IRGC to aid the crackdown against Syria's civilian population.

Export and Shipping Records (EEI, SED and AES)

25. The DOC required the filing of electronic export information (EEI), previously the Shipper's Export Declaration (SED), through the Automated Export System (AES) pursuant to Title 13, United States Code, Section 305 and Foreign Trade Regulations (FTR), Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 30. The purpose of these requirements was to strengthen the United States government's ability to prevent the export of certain items to unauthorized destinations and end users because the AES aids in targeting, identifying, and when necessary confiscating suspicious or illegal shipments prior to exportation. 15 C.F.R. § 30.1(b). The AES was administered by the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Customs and Border Protection (CBP).

26. With exceptions not relevant to the exports at issue in this Indictment, EEI was required to be filed for, among other things, the export of commodities valued over $2,500. EEI was required to contain, among other things, the names and addresses of the parties to the transaction; the description, quantity, and value of the items exported; the ultimate consignee (end user); and the ultimate country of destination. 15 C.F.R. § 30.6(a).

The Exported Items Listed on the CCL

27. As discussed above, the CCL listed the most sensitive items subject to EAR controls and categorized them by ECCN. Each ECCN category had export controls requirements depending on destination, end use, and end user. As discussed above, Executive Order 13338 and subsequent DOC/BIS regulations prohibit exports to Syria of all items subject to the EAR (other than food and certain medicine), including all items listed on the CCL.

28. Micro switches, Part Number (PN) 6763-01860, were installed on flow control valves used on Airbus A319/320/321 jetliner aircraft. These items were classified on the CCL under ECCN 9A991.d (parts and components specifically designed for aircraft).

29. Lighted indicators, PN 900VR02S3D41AQW, were used in the cockpit panels of ATR aircraft. These items classified on the CCL under ECCN 9A991.d (parts and components specifically designed for aircraft).

30. Fault switches, PN 120VK01N0GB315, were used in the instrument panels on ATR aircraft. These items were classified on the CCL under ECCN 7A994 (certain navigation direction finding equipment, airborne communication equipment, all aircraft inertial navigation systems).

31. Fuel temperature transmitters, PN 8316-103-00-10, were probes or sensors used in ATR aircraft. These items were classified on the CCL under ECCN 9A991.d (parts and components specifically designed for aircraft).

32. Push-pull cable propeller power, PN 4297515, was used in ATR aircraft. This item was classified on the CCL under ECCN 9A991.d (parts and components specifically designed for aircraft).

33. None of the defendants ever applied for or obtained a DOC or OFAC license to export any of the above-listed CCL items to Syria or to SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES.

34. Tactical air navigation accessory unit, PN T-1401, was an electronic device used to test and service air-to-air, ground-to-air, and inverse tactical air navigation airborne equipment. This item was classified on the CCL under ECCN 3A611.a (military electronics equipment) on December 30, 2014. This item is discussed in this Indictment in connection with its export to China. As of December 30, 2014, this ECCN category required a DOC license to be exported to China.

(18 U.S.C. § 371)

1. The allegations in Paragraphs 1 through 33 of the General Allegations are incorporated and realleged by reference in this Count.

did knowingly and willfully combine, conspire, confederate, and agree with each other and with others known to the Grand Jury to (1) export and cause the exportation of goods indirectly from the United States to Syria without first having obtained the required licenses from DOC, in violation of Title 50, United States Code, Sections 1701-1706, and Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 746.9(a); (2) export and cause the exportation of goods indirectly from the United States to SDN SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES without first having obtained the required licenses from OFAC, in violation of Title 50, United States Code, Sections 1701-1706, and Title 31, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 594.204; and (3) defraud the United States government, namely DOC and OFAC, by interfering with and obstructing a lawful government function by deceit, craft, trickery, and dishonest means.

PURPOSE AND OBJECT OF THE CONSPIRACY

3. The purpose and object of the conspiracy was to unlawfully export goods from the United States through transshipment points to Syria and to SYRIAN ARAB AIRLINES, and in doing so evade the prohibitions and licensing requirements of IEEPA and detection by the United States government.

MANNER AND MEANS OF THE CONSPIRACY

The manner and means by which the defendants and their co-conspirators sought to accomplish the objects of the conspiracy included, among others, the following:

4. The co-conspirators would use electronic mail (email) accounts and other forms of communication to communicate with each other between the United States, Bulgaria, United Arab Emirates (UAE), and Syria.

5. Some of the co-conspirators would purchase from United States vendors CCL-listed items for export to Syria.

6. Some of the co-conspirators would conceal the true destination of CCL-listed items and other items by shipping the goods without a license from the United States to Bulgaria or UAE and then reexporting the goods to Syria.

7. Some of the co-conspirators would provide materially false, misleading, and incomplete information such as electronic export information (EEI) and SEDs in AES records, and other documents to conceal the illegal exports.

8. Some of the co-conspirators would arrange for payment for the illegal exports using third-party companies to transfer payments between the co-conspirators.
